The new license key for this.LINCOLN, Neb. -- The Nebraska football team returned to HuskerVision for the first time in nearly a week on Saturday and took to the practice field for a few minutes. What does it look like out there? Here's how the practice went down: · Two-minute drill: Russell Hansbrough went 4-for-4 for 37 yards, and a touchdown pass to Jeff Gladney. Johnson Bademosi also gained a touchdown for the defense. · 11-on-11 drills: For the second week in a row, the Wildcats hit on a big drive that was broken up with an offsides penalty or dropped pass in the red zone. The problem, though, was the offense was out of sync. · 5-on-5: Another practice where there were lots of dropped passes and penalties on offense. · Coolest play of the day: Nebraska DB Justin Jones took down an Appalachian State running back trying to catch the long ball by diving at the ball and intercepting it. The ball was one of many dropped by Nebraska and Wildcat receivers. · Best catch of the day: Have to go with Jeff Gladney's catch in the end zone over cornerback/cornerback Kendric Pryor. · 6-on-6: Was a turnover-free practice with the offense continuing to struggle. · 7-on-7: Three touchdowns, two of them from Roy Helu Jr. -- one to WR Jared Keller, the other to TE Derek Marror. · Red zone: The defense had a couple of stops, but the offense was unable to get the ball in the end zone in the red zone. · Walkthrough: For a second week in a row, NU had a defensive debacle in the red zone -- and it cost them. · Special teams: Faced two big punts.
